

Food waste project groundbreaking takes place in Yaphank

Apr 20, 2022, 6:06pm • Updated 2d ago

By: News 12 Staff

Long Island will soon become a little more eco-friendly.

The area is now home to a state-of-the-art food waste energy facility in Yaphank.

The American Organic Energy project is a result of 10 years of collaboration. It will help prevent 180,000 tons of food waste, and reduce landfill emissions among other benefits.

The groundbreaking happened at 11 a.m.